McGill Wins Dominion Title

At about 9.15 last night, before one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a water-polo game, McGill defeated the M.A.A.A. in a very exciting match, thus winning the Golden Cup, emblematic of the Dominion Championship. This is the first time in the history of water-polo that this cup has ever been won by a McGill team, and it is a certainty that this polo team is the best that McGill has ever had.

The McGill team showed much better team-play than the M.A.A.A., and it was this that helped them more than anything else to win the coveted honor which they carried off last night. This was due a great deal to the tireless coaching of Mr. E. Vernot, who spent a large part of his valuable time in helping them out. McGill must also consider herself extremely lucky in having such a star swimmer and polo-player as Geo. Vernot on her team. Many is the time that he has brought the team out of a tight corner by his great speed. "Curly" Walters also must not be left unmentioned. There are certainly very few, if any, who can better him in goal. It is, perhaps, doubtful that the team would have had such a fine record, with no defeat, either in the Intercollegiate or Montreal City League, had it not been for his sterling game. It is very seldom that the ball ever gets by him. Fisk has also contributed in a large portion to the success of the team by his untiring energy and his very great accuracy in passing and shooting. Vernot and Fisk together with Parsons complete a forward line that would give any other forward line a very hard run to beat them. Parsons is husky, a good shot, and very fast. Although Parsons is regularly a defence man, he played a fine game on the forward line in the absence of Laidley, who was unable to play on account of illness. Roy Foss, on the defence, was a tower of strength, and it needed some very fine play on the part of more than one opposing player to get past him. More than once an M.A.A.A. man was just about to shoot, only to be smothered by Foss. Bastable, his partner on the defence, also played a very fine game, and gave his full share towards the victory.

The McGill team defended the shallow end in the first quarter. In the first few minutes of play, Foss and Vernot were each penalized for one minute. Hughes, of the M.A.A.A., was also penalized about two minutes afterward. Shortly after Hughes returned, Fisk scored the first goal of the game, and after this McGill managed to keep a lead of at least one goal, except at one time, till the final whistle.

The second quarter began with the play for the most part in the McGill end of the tank, and Walters made several spectacular stops, but at last Frank McGill managed to nose in a goal. Vernot, however, soon managed to regain the lead. F. McGill and Vernot then scored one each, and the whistle blew for half-time, with McGill leading, 3-2.

The third quarter was all in McGill's favor, the play being in the M.A.A.A. end of the tank for the greater part of the time. In this period Foss and Vernot each scored a goal.

When the fourth quarter opened, one of the most exciting quarters in the water-polo history of Canada was played. M.A.A.A. were determined to win, so that they would be able to have a play-off, and the Red and White were equally determined to win, and bring the Canadian Championship to McGill. Richey, for M.A.A.A., was the first to score in this quarter. Bastable, however, shortly afterward, netted a goal for McGill. Walters was then penalized for touching the sides of the goal. During that one minute, pandemonium reigned around the tank. Richey and F. McGill scored one each for the M.A.A.A., and things began to look serious for McGill, with only a one-goal lead. Walters got back in time, though, and Vernot scored the last goal of the game, making the score 7-5, in favor of McGill, thus assuring our starwatts possession of the Golden Cup.

For M.A.A.A., McGill and Richey played the best game; and for McGill, Vernot and Walters, closely followed by the rest of the team. There was a large crowd of Rooters present, but a team of such calibre as the McGill Water-Polo Team, deserves still better support.

The goals were scored as follows:

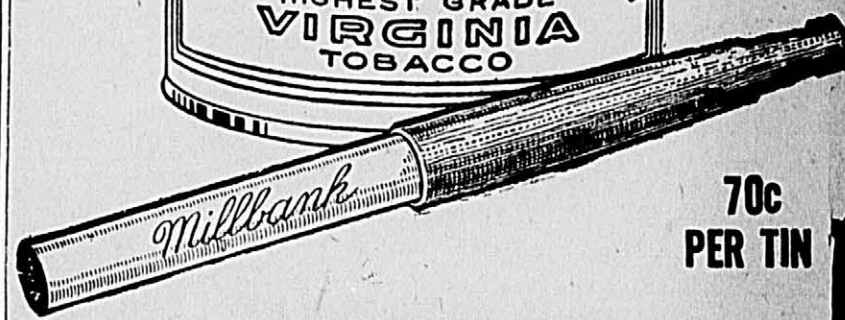

First Quarter.
Fisk	McGill
Second Quarter.
McGill	M.A.A.A.
Vernot	McGill
McGill	M.A.A.A.
Vernot	McGill
Third Quarter.
Foss	McGill
Vernot	McGill
Fourth Quarter.
Richey	M.A.A.A.
Bastable	McGill
Richey	M.A.A.A.
McGill	M.A.A.A.
Vernot	McGill

The teams lined up as follows:

M.A.A.A.		McGill
Hughes	Goal	Walters	Goal
Verning	Defence	Foss	Defence
Hodgson	Defence	Bastable	Defence
Richey	Forwards	Fisk	Forwards
McGill	Forwards	Vernot	Forwards
Logan	Forwards	Parsons	Forwards

JUNIOR HOCKEY ASS. MEETING LAST EVENING

Plans Made For Coming Year.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

McGill To Be Again Represented in Association.

The thirty-fourth annual general meeting of the Junior Amateur Hockey Association took place in the Central Y.M.C.A., Drummond Street, last evening. Representatives were present from Westmount A.A., which has taken over the franchise of the Melville Club of last year; from Loyola, M.A.A.A., Victorias.

An application for membership was received from the North Branch Y.M.C.A., and, after consideration, it was accepted. Nationals also have expressed their intention of signifying their desire to join, but no men were in attendance from that club. Panthers, who played last year, also failed to be represented, and it is thought that they may be unable to continue in the running this season.

An application for the right to join the Association was read from Cornwall, Ont., but in view of the fact that up till now there are no prospects of any other outside team entering, it was decided to let the matter wait over until it could be thoroughly looked into. In this connection Huntingdon was mentioned, and it was moved and adopted that they still be carried as honorary members of the J.A.H.A.

In view of the fact that new admissions to the Association may result in an odd number of entrants, efforts will be made to interest Laval, and possibly Shamrocks, in Junior Hockey. This would constitute an eight team league, which would probably necessitate the arrangement of a double schedule. Games will either be played in the Mount Royal Arena, as last year, or if more satisfactory terms can be reached for their being played in the Victoria Rink, they will take place at the latter ice palace.

Junior Hockey is worthy of better support than that accorded it in Montreal last winter, and it is hoped

MCGILL WINS DEBATE FROM 'VARSITY TEAM

Prof. Leacock Was Chairman—Speakers Congratulated.

LARGE CROWD.

Dillon and Perrault Led the McGill Team to Victory.

The Intercollegiate Debate between Toronto and McGill was staged last night in the Union with great success. Before 8 o'clock crowds were wending their way to the bright lights of the Union, where Professor Leacock called the gathering to order at 8.20. The judges of the debate were the Rev. Dr. Welsh, Major Stairs and Mr. R. J. Dale.

The subject for the debate was read: "Resolved, That military training should be compulsory for Arts students in the Canadian Universities." Dr. Leacock spoke briefly of the rules of procedure governing the Intercollegiate Debates, which allowed fifteen minutes to each speaker. The battle soon started, when D. W.

IMAGINATION AND THE WILL

One of the choicest gifts of man is his power of imagination, the faculty which creates worlds of fantasies and dreams. Yet in its noblest character, the imagination exhibits compulsion, purpose and control. Milton must summon in luminous array the images of paradise lost. Does Angelo see his immortal shapes without the creation of will? Do the phantoms of the ideal world come unbidden to the arena of thought? Undoubtedly fantasies and hallucinations may troop across the plains of mental vision in capricious freedom; and these may tyrannize over the mind with a terrible power. But the hallucinations of disease often yield to treatment of physical improvement and resolute will.

That the power of creating such luminous mental vision can be acquired by strenuous will may be doubted; but there are minds that have frequent flashes of clear, pictorial insight, in which objects seem to appear with all the vividness of sunlight reality, although they can never command this experience at will. If possessed, the gift is subject to summons and control, as seen in the cases of many artists.

A secondary quality of mental vision, in which ideas of things, more or less vague and confused, and similar assemblages of objects, arise, is by common testimony a matter of determined cultivation.

Professions which require public speaking, as in the ministry, or the law; the massing of facts before the mind, as in the trial of jury cases; the forming of material shapes and their organizations into imaginary mechanisms, as in invention; the grasp of detail and comprehensive matter, as is required by a professor or student at lectures, all furnish illustrations of the truth that not original endowment alone, but energetic exercise of will is requisite to success.

The imagination is the pioneer of progress—in religion, industry, art and science; but as such it is not a lawless necromancer without deliberate purpose. The spirit that summons, guides and controls it is the soul's mysterious power of self direction. And this power is equally susceptible of being so developed as to indicate an exclusion of what is deteriorating, and a selection of the finer scenes of life which make our Education a real treasure of priceless value.

BEST OF LUCK, 'VARSITY!

To-day, University of Toronto's football team is meeting the Argo's team of the Big Four in the final of the Canadian Rugby Championship. Naturally enough our sympathies are with the Intercollegiate team, and our previous encounters with them this season have sufficiently demonstrated that they are a power to be reckoned with.

While McGill has consistently refused to consider any post-season play-off for the Gray Cup, Toronto have taken the contrary stand, and we trust that to-day's encounter will see them returned as Canadian football champions for 1921.

ARTS AND MED. WILL PLAY GAME

Winner Will Qualify For Basketball Finals.

The semi-finals in the Inter-class Basketball League will be held this afternoon at two o'clock in Molson's Hall. The two teams who are to fight for the honor of playing in the finals are Arts I. and Medicine II. (6-year course). The league has been an unqualified success, many an interesting and exciting game having been played. The first year teams of the various faculties have shown up remarkably well, and are to be congratulated on their good results. However, do not forget to-day—1st year, Med. II. (6-year course).

A Fair Knight's Work.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 1.—Mrs. Vina T. Knight, wife of a farmer at Plain City, Utah, gave birth to four children, three boys and a girl, last night.

In Brigham's battalion a new four has been formed. Evidently polygamy in Utah is leading to a more praiseworthy effort in another direction. None of the four, you will note, was born on, or since has wandered on, our campus.

This matter of the babies on the campus so intrigued us that we sent a representative to look into it. His reports:

The Babies On The Campus.

The babies on the campus know nothing yet of Trig. Of Shakespeare or of motor-boats. Or what is infra dig. They have no thought of football. Nor for a maid to sigh. The babies on the campus are happier than I.

The babies on the campus, Upon the other hand, Have never cashed upon a pair. Nor strolled upon the Strand, Have never had a week-end leave. Nor heard "I'll faithful be." The babies on the campus Have much to envy me.

Sir,—I am a first year man in Arts. When I left home, my parents advised me to attend church regularly. Since coming, I have done so. Last Sunday, one of my friends, a rather rough character, told me that I greatly resembled the gentleman who takes up the collection. I could hardly believe him, as I am only a freshman, and the gentleman he referred to is a prominent citizen. Please help me out in this dilemma. Yours, OLIVER BOLIVAR.

 And yet retain your courage and your wits,
 Though you may starve while other guys are feeding,
 Still, you'll be in at least the odd six bits.

This business, in modern magazines, of putting a column of reading matter in the midst of about six columns of pure advertising has led to the pernicious habit of continuing on the next page, or page 19 or 364, as the case may be. LECTURE ON WAR GASES LAST NIGHT

Dr. Simpson Addresses Chemical Society.

ACTION ON ANIMALS.

Slides Add to Interest of Lecture.

At the fortnightly meeting of the Chemical Society held yesterday afternoon in the Chemistry Building, a large audience heard Dr. Simpson, of the Department of Biological and Physiological Chemistry, on the subject of the "Blood Chemistry of Edema with relation to the effects of War Gases." This was a report on an investigation into the effects of chlorine, phosgene and chlor-pyridine, carried on at New Haven under the direction of the U.S. War Department in 1917 and 1918.

The action of these much dreaded gases on the animal organism was studied by the speaker using dogs as a medium for the investigation. Symptoms developed showed a striking analogy to those met with in cases of pneumonia. Chlorine in large doses produced death more or less quickly, and the immediate effect of exposure to this gas caused a rapid concentration of the solid matter in the blood, with a corresponding flooding of the lungs with liquid, derived from the surrounding tissues. Alleviation was produced by infusion of dilute salt and alkali solutions, and also by bleeding, the latter tending to relieve the overcrowded heart.

Phosgene, however, produced at first a dilution of the blood which was soon followed by a concentration exactly similar to that observed in the case of chlorine poisoning. This may possibly be due to the delay involved in the hydrolysis of the phosgene. Acidosis was observed in the blood and urine tests especially in the case of chlorine poisoning.

The haemoglobin under these circumstances showed itself quite capable of absorbing oxygen, but not in sufficient quantity, apparently, to satisfy the body tissues.

Chlor-pyridine showed results similar to those of chlorine. After showing many slides, indication of the huge amount of experimentation involved, and after replying to many questions from the audience, the speaker was accorded hearty applause, and the meeting adjourned.

distinguished member of the Russian school and for that matter one of the most gifted pianists of the age, will appear at Windsor Hall.

The artist is not a performer alone but a composer of distinction. It is musical talent of importance when Rachmaninoff appears in any community.

BOXING PRACTICE.

There will be a workout for the advanced class in the Gymnasium from 3 to 4 p.m. to-day. The following men are asked to be out:

Badger
 Long
 Ward
 McCulloch
 G. Ross
 and all who were out at 5.15 Thursday.

ORCHESTRA.

There will be a special practice meeting of the Orchestra in the Union to-morrow (Sunday), the 5th inst., at 11 a.m.

Any members who have hitherto been prevented from attending the practice meeting are notified that, if they desire to play in the Orchestra on the 12th, they must attend this rehearsal. After to-morrow no new members or old defaulters can be accepted until after the concert.

Men who borrowed music at the 'close of Thursday's practice will please remember to bring it with them on Sunday morning.

The third football team will hold a meeting at the Union on Monday, Dec. 6th, at 4.30 p.m. Will the following men turn out:

A meeting of the executives of the two Sophomore years and the Freshman year, in Medicine, is called for 2.00 p.m. to-day, Saturday, December 4th, in the music room of the Union. A. G. HILL, Pres. Med. '20.

HARRIERS MET FOR ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Held Meeting in Union Yesterday.

R. L. HAMILTON, PRES.

Sport to Receive Greater Support Next Season.

The Harriers held a meeting in the Union yesterday afternoon, mainly for the purpose of electing the executive for next year. Various matters of interest, however, arose during the proceedings, in connection with the past season's activities and also with reference to the future plans and needs of the club.

Hamilton, the president, who was in the chair, announced that everything possible would be done next season to afford additional encouragement to all prospective harriers. It is hoped that trophies will be presented for faculty men, which certainly should serve as an inducement for men to turn out for the runs. During this year altogether forty-two men were present at the difficult try-out, while for the inter-faculty run only nineteen showed up. This lamentable state of affairs shows plainly the lack of sufficient encouragement—had these men, who were not quite able to make the team, had something more within their reach for which to strive, they would not have become so easily discouraged, and would have afforded a larger field from which to choose McGill's harrier representatives.

It was further decided that a communication be addressed to the Toronto club congratulating them on their noteworthy achievement in annexing the inter-collegiate honors.

Dr. McMillan was once more chosen as honorary president. He has a helping hand, and by his constant interest has helped the sport along to the high position it now commands among college athletics.

R. L. Hamilton was returned unanimously to the position of president, and the following other officers were elected:

Vice-President—Simpson.
 Sec. Treas.—Egg.
 Captain—Legg.
 And the following faculty representatives:
 Science—Stephens.
 Arts—O'Hagan.
 Medicine—Ross.

Correspondence

The "Daily" is not responsible for the sentiments of letters published in the correspondence columns. Signed communications from graduates, undergraduates and members of the faculties will be placed in print if they are not of too great length. Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office—that they write upon ONE side of the paper ONLY. No communications will be admitted in this column without the name of the writer being attached, not necessarily for PUBLICATION.

To the Editor, "McGill Daily," Dear Sir,—All preparations are being made for the coming hockey season. In past years inter-faculty hockey has not interested the majority because the teams in the series were not representative, in that they were champion interclass teams. My proposal is this—That the inter-faculty teams be chosen from the best men playing inter-year of the Faculty. These teams would be representative of their respective faculties, and I am certain that they would be well supported. The choosing of a team would be entrusted to a hockey manager and committee appointed by the Faculty Society. The arranging of schedule and other matters would be the duties of the managers and committees. A league composed of teams from Science, Arts, Medicine, Commerce, etc., should produce good sporting rivalry. Then it may truly be called inter-faculty not inter-year hockey. J. E. L. I.

To the Editor, "McGill Daily," Dear Sir,—I note that the Junior Year Committee is taking up the question of the Annual for 1922, and that already a meeting will have been held to consider steps to be taken in this connection. Before anything binding is definitely decided, with your kind indulgence, Mr. Editor, I should like to suggest that it might be advisable were the Annual Board to invite other years to participate in the book this year to the extent of making the publication not a one-year affair, but rather a College year-book, such as are issued in American Universities. Instead of being confined in scope and interest to a few of the students, namely, the Junior year, such a volume would reach all undergraduates, and the financial burden, instead of falling on the few, would be borne by the entire student body. We do not like to see traditions going by the board, but it seems to me that a broader publication will assuredly do no harm, and might well be tried out in this year of experiment and innovation. Yours truly, CHIP.

To the Editor, "McGill Daily," Dear Sir,—After carefully reading Mr. Peterson's lengthy epistle in yesterday's "Daily," I am convinced that he must have written it either from a sense of moral obligation to do so, being president-elect of the Society, or because he had a highly developed sense of humour. I was not at the meeting. But neither was Mr. Peterson. So that before he accuses me of perverting the details he should realize that he himself is open to the same charge, his information, like mine, being based on information received from some of those present. Mr. Peterson deals at great length with the high and noble "spirit" and "purpose" of this Theological "Undergraduate" Society. But we must consider legal technicalities also. If he should want an example, let him look up the Constitution of the United States. And despite all his flourishes he says nothing at all that will disprove the fact that this Society would tend to lend an increased impetus to the clique spirit at McGill. By making a close association certainly is not a method of broadening the relations of the theological students with the University. Mr. Peterson's three divisions are all right as far as they go. But he forgets two more classes which comprise a great many of his "theologues," namely, those taking some Arts and some Theology, and those taking some Matriculation work and some Theology. According to Mr. Peterson's division these could not come within the scope of the Society. And as for his own classes, only the first, the Theological undergraduates, could belong to the Society. Arts undergraduates can only belong to the Arts Undergrad. And as for the Matriculation men, their case is well dealt with by "Divinity Student," who, I happen to know, is probably the most influential person in Theology at McGill. And under what head does the Society's treasurer come? He has both his B.A. and B.D. In what is he an undergraduate? I would remind Mr. Peterson that the question of finances was discussed, but not being entirely sure of themselves on this point, they decided to leave the clause over to the next meeting. In conclusion, I would say that I most heartily endorse the sentiments expressed by "Divinity Student." He has put the whole case in a nutshell. The sooner all the Theological students adopt his sentiments the sooner will they command the respect the McGill students. His plea for

ALL TO HAVE MERRY TIME AT DANSANT

Will Take Place at 4 p.m. in R. V. C. Hall.

MANY EXPECTED.

Proceeds Will Be Donated to the "University Settlement."

The "The Dansant" arranged by the Partials will take place this afternoon in the Royal Victoria College at 4.00 p.m. The price of admission will be 75 cents, all proceeds going to help the University Settlement—a worthy object. It is unnecessary to dwell upon the merits of this organization. Its splendid record, its devoted band of workers, its far-reaching effects and influences are known to all who know anything in Montreal. Like other works of charity, as it might be termed very aptly, the Settlement is seriously handicapped by the decline in the power of the dollar. It needs help, especially money. The Partials, realizing this need are giving an opportunity for all to show their loyalty to those workers, men and women, giving up so much to help the people who have such a little chance in life. They have arranged this "The Dansant" to help the Settlement. It is not exactly like ordinary giving by any means. All who attend will assuredly receive more than they give. For some time now, the Partials, justly celebrated for more than looks, have been busily engaged in preparing for the big event. Delicacies have been prepared in great variety and abundance, dainties that would tempt even those who are preparing for their Christmas dinner, to give up fasting and taste Tea, too, will be made in the way we all love—Mother's way. As to the "waiting," where can we find such waitresses? The dancing, too, will be well up to the usual R.V.C. standard, which is saying a great deal. The music will be provided by Miss Cleary, thus assuring success in that department. We might devote pages to speak of the floor, and for the partners, but it is unnecessary. Both being products of the R.V.C. establishes their genuineness. Besides, the ladies will no doubt speak for themselves—they are used to it. The best advertisement for the success of the evening is evidenced by the fact that only a very few tickets are now available. The few that remain have been left with the porter at the Union, from whom a few lucky persons may yet redeem their hopes. We cannot promise this, because they are selling fast, and we can accept no responsibility for disappointments. Who can resist it? "Paradise Regained" for 75 cents in the R.V.C. this afternoon.

ARE YOU BUSY ON SUNDAY NEXT?

Why Not Make a Date With the Hospitality Committee To-Day at 5 p.m.?

All returned soldiers will vividly remember what the Hospitality Committee of the Y.M. in England did for soldiers on leave in that country, and what it meant to every man who took advantage of it from France. A year ago, some returned students at McGill thought it would be an excellent thing if an organization could be formed here to look after the benefits of the non-Montrealers who are studying at our University. Some of the fruits of their efforts were realized when they tried to get suitable boarding houses for students arriving in town at the commencement of the college year. They now would consider it a great pleasure to get these men "to feel at home in our city," and will be on hand at Stratheona Hall from 5 to 6 to-day and every Friday and Saturday at the same hour. Many are taking this programme to heart and are calling at the Hall at the set time, so let no man hesitate in making an appearance to-day—5 to 6—at the Hall. WHAT ARE THE ODDS? Soph—"What'll we do?" Senior—"I'll spin a coin. If it's heads, we'll go to the movies, and if it stands on edge we'll study." —Brown Jug the correct use of various words is well founded; Mr. Peterson using them in the wrong sense continually throughout his whole letter. Believe me, Mr. Editor, I remain, Yours, as ever, ANXIOUS.

Pictures Will Be Taken Separately.

5 P.M. TUESDAY.

All Men Whose Names Appear Below Are Requested To Be On Hand.

Tuesday, 7th, at five o'clock sharp, the members of the Track and Harrier teams are to have their pictures taken at Notman's. As most of the Harrier team are also on the Track team, it was thought best to have both of these teams taken at the same time. The Track team are to have their pictures taken first, then the Harrier team. As Notman's Studio is very busy in the afternoon, all the men are asked to be on time. Owing to a mistake, a number of the names of the Track team were unfortunately omitted in the "Daily" yesterday, so the corrected list is, as before: Dr. Sullivan Van Wagner (Coach) W. R. Kennedy D. Foss A. Davis J. L. O'Brien Fredericks J. C. Farthing W. S. Ankliff D. Johnson H. L. Hamilton J. C. Hay McLellan M. Gaboury Consiglio Dickie M. Wells Stephens J. King Creelman R. Legg J. C. POSTPONEMENT OF TRAMP BY SNOWSHOERS

Unable To Obtain Use of Union For 7th.

DEC. 14 NEW DATE.

Executive Out to Make This Function an Unprecedented Success.

Last evening there was a most important meeting of the executive of the Snowshoe Club, the outcome of which is of much interest to the student body as a whole. The first and greatest decision was the postponement of the tramp scheduled for next Tuesday for one week hence, Dec. 14. The reasons and advantages for this are many. The greatest inducement was the obtaining of the Union Hall. That there will be more snow by the 14th is another decided factor, while the opportunities to make fuller preparations for the coming social function had no little weight. There have been many committees busy doing their utmost to make this club's first appearance for the season a hopping success. The social committee, which includes several representatives from the R.V.C., are taking active measures for the refreshments, the programmes and the social aspect in general a real thing. Arrangements are being carried out to have an unlimited supply of snowshoes and moccasins at the Union for the use of all who have not got a pair. The Union House Committee have very kindly given the club the privileges of the Union and also their full backing and co-operation which is no small attribute. The R.V.C. members have signified their keen interest and are anxious to give every support to the function. Lists have been placed in each of the faculty buildings for all interested to sign. This already shows that many students are actively concerned. Tickets have been placed into the hands of the Union, the R.V.C. and faculty representatives, so that any person desirous of obtaining a single or double ticket may get one at any time.

COSMOPOLITES HOLD DINNER

Officers Elected For New Term—Mr. B. Salamis President.

During the enjoyable dinner of the Cosmopolitan Club, held on Thursday, December 2nd, excellent musical selections, such as La Bessense and La Cygri, were ably rendered by the well-known 'cello-violinist Mr. Clossy. Science '21, accompanied by Mr. Nichols, B.A., after which election of officers was held. Mr. B. C. Salamis, former vice-president, was elected president by acclamation. The other officers elected are as follows: Vice-President—Mr. Bristol, Med. '21. Secretary—Mr. Amir Khanian, Law '21. Assistant-Secretary—Mr. Goltieri, Sci. '21. Treasurer—Mr. MacPherson, Arts '23. Executive Committee—Mr. Peter Joe, Sci. '21. Mr. Latoni, Law '21. Mr. Craig, Science '23. Mr. Ramjan, Med. '24. Mr. MacKay, Secretary of the McGill Y.M.C.A., is honorary member of the executive.

MASQUERADE IS BEING BROACHED

Popularity and Demand For Such a Function Increases.

To all those who fancy a fancy dress ball, let be known that such a fancy is quite legitimate. It is not only legitimate but highly commendable that some of us should wish to destroy or enhance what beauty we may have, according to the extremeness of the costume, at least once a year. Such an affair would be popular not only for the opportunity given of designing more or less fantastic costumes, according to our tastes, but also of taking part in an event which would be quite out of the ordinary as regards college dances in general. Such a ball was held last year among the young "architects" of the College, the staff of the Department and their friends, and proved itself a full-fledged success. We have it on good authority that the Architectural Society are wishful, in view of the success met with last year, of making the ball an annual one. In addition, on account of the interest shown amongst others in the College in such an affair, the society is seriously considering the feasibility of holding a fancy dress ball, open to all. A wide demand for such a function would have to be evidenced among the student body as a whole before definite arrangements could be launched for such an innovation.

Roseburg, of Toronto, arose for the affirmative. The speaker began by stating that he was opposed to military training, but showed how inadequate Canada had found herself when the Great War of 1914 came. The differences which were now always cropping up, causing many annoyances to the Allies, were sure omens that another war was not inevitable. "If another war were to come," said the speaker, "conscription will be needed." The inadequacy of the militia to supply the needs of Canada's military aspirations were shown when the call of the Mother Country was heard. A military training was necessary to remove the danger of a world war, and the physical development given by a military training was necessary to all true Canadians.

Mr. Roseburg spoke well, but he did not show why military training was essential to an Arts student. The fact that he held remote from the real subject must have lost for him many points.

Roy Dillon, Law '21, leader of the negative for McGill, somewhat nervously at first, presented his views for his team. The speaker dealt well with his subject. Every remark which he made bore upon the subject which was to be debated. Mr. Dillon agreed that military training was necessary, but that the Arts Faculty of any University could not properly give the necessary training required by an officer. The speaker claimed that the Royal Military College at Kingston was the suitable place for men to prepare for efficiency in military training. The University was not the right authority to enforce such training. The overcrowded time-table of the Arts student was presented to the listening crowd, and when Dillon sat down everybody well reckoned that he had advanced far beyond the reach of his opponent.

The next speaker was J. R. Stirrett, the second speaker for the affirmative. He began by answering the points raised by the previous speaker, but apparently did not attain to the height of his ambition. Stirrett spoke well, and first of all referred to Ian Hay's book on the "First Hundred Thousand." He stated that the R.M.C. only produced an annual output of forty-five officers. This number was inadequate to meet the needs of Canada, and the necessity of being prepared was essential. "Our geographical position," said the speaker, "no longer places us in a state of isolation." A University military training is economical, for the students require no remuneration for such duties, and its efficiency is indisputed.

Rene Perrault, Science '21, for McGill, followed, and gave a well-thought out address in support of the negative. Mr. Perrault upheld the training of the youth, but that two courses like Arts and military drill could not run contemporaneously in one curriculum. The speaker was undoubtedly the most fluent of the evening, and his utterances occasionally bordered on humour, which greatly delighted the listening crowd.

The leader of the affirmative then made a short rebuttal, but he violated debating rules, and must have lost in the opinion of the judges by bringing in new matter at this time, which should have been devoted entirely to answering his opponents.

The judges then retired, and Dr. Leacock gave a short humorous address. He referred to the flow of oratory which had come from the speakers, and no person less than a professor, he thought, ought to speak at such a time.

Professor Caldwell then spoke during the interval. He dealt reminiscently of his career in Scottish and English Universities. He spoke of the time which he spent studying both in Paris and Germany. Next came some remarks concerning eight years spent teaching in the United States. Dr. Caldwell referred to the interest displayed by the McGill Graduates during the late campaign, and prophesied great things in the coming year for McGill, to whom he intended to devote the remaining years of his life.

The exciting moment of the evening had now come, and Rev. Dr. Welsh stood to reveal the secret of the evening. What would be the decision? Dr. Welsh said the judges were unanimous that McGill had won. Then the excitement rose and the McGill and Toronto yells were given with vim and enthusiasm.

Many thanks are due to the learned judges for the interest displayed in the debate, also to Drs. Leacock and Caldwell. The crowd was dismissed by the singing of the National Anthem at 10 p.m.

PRINCESS.
Next week the management of the Princess Theatre announces that one of the biggest feature bills of the season has been booked, opening Sunday Matinee, each and every act being worthy of headline honors. Foremost among the features will be the Ford Sisters. The Beautiful and Marvellous Descendants of Tersichore, presenting their latest offering, "Frolics of 1920." Their present repertoire includes four dances, three of which are new and the fourth a step dance which has frequently brought audiences to their feet in enthusiastic approval when it was done by the Ford Sisters. The two girls have little difficulty in making it just as effective as before and they are also assisted by their own orchestra on their present tour.

Harry Tighe, "The-You-All-Know-Him-Comedian" is always welcome. This season, Mr. Tighe has the assistance of Edna Leedom, an attractive and capable young actress, who is excellent foil for Mr. Tighe's antics. Their offering is called "The Bits of Musical Comedy."

The lovers of syncopated tunes, whether in song or dance music will welcome the return of Miss Ruth Royce, an expert in syncopation. Miss Royce is a very young artist, but who is a recognized authority on all forms of syncopation and she has for weeks been drawing big audiences in New York with her attractive repertoire of songs of a novel and distinct type.

In recent years Harry Holman has confined his efforts entirely to vaudeville and here he has been unusually successful. A series of clever one-act farces have done much for him and his present vehicle which is called, "Hard Boiled Hampton" is like its predecessor, being built on situation, the situations being new and surprisingly developed. Peck and McIntyre are comedians with original material and will be seen in their latest offering entitled, "The Black Ace."

Charles F. Seamon, "The Narrow Feller" is back after a long absence with a brand new line of humor and also his original stunts. The Worden Brothers are athletes, who are marvels in their novelty, double-foot juggling. The Richards, novelty illusionists and shadowgraphists, will complete the programme.

LOEW'S.
One of Europe's most celebrated violinists will appear next week at Loew's in the person of Countess Modena, who heads her own "Futuristic Revue"—a fantastic musical novelty. Ten soloists will compose Mde. Modena's company and "Bits From Carmen" will be rendered in a most unusual way.

Solly Hite and Mabel Reflow, old Montreal favorites, are billed to appear in their latest offering, "A Chinese Musical Fantasy," an interlude of melody and terpsichore; Bobby Van Horn, the "jovial songologist," has many new ditties to sing in his inimitable manner; Copper and Lane, the "bellboy and the porter," in "Hotel Gossip," will indulge in a new line of comedy, and Arford's Golden Whirl, a sensational aerial act in which a trio of young women perform uncommonly dangerous stunts, will round-out an attractive vaudeville bill.

The feature photoplay booked for the management for next week is "The Love Flower," one of D. W. Griffith's master productions. The story is replete with thrills, romance and adventure and centres round the adventures of three men and a girl who were cast upon and left stranded upon a desolate South Sea Island. The plot is greatly strengthened by a criminal element, and the climax rests with the girl, whose supreme sacrifice and heroism forms the theme of the play.

The British-Canadian News Weekly, showing interesting events in Canadian and American centres, will complete the bill.

GAYETY.
Barney Gerard's "Girls-de-Looks" with Jos. K. Watson and Will H. Cohan, will be the attraction at the Gayety Theatre beginning with a matinee on Monday, and if reports be true, this show is even funnier than it was last season. Watson and Cohan were styled the "Potash and Perlmutter" of burlesque when they were seen here last, as the "refined lawyers." This time they are seen as "bankers and brokers." The story of the new book entitled "Sittin' and Sittin', Bankers and Brokers," is said to be one of the best written and best played seen on the Columbia Circuit, and tells of two Hebrews who buy an interest in a "Get Rich Quick" firm. The story hits at the many fake oil concerns now busily engaged in selling "overnight" oil stock propositions. Many funny complications arise through the efforts of the two comedians to learn the intricacies of the market. An unusually clever cast includes many names well known to patrons of burlesque including Anna Propp, Momi Kalama, Bettie Evans, Sam Green, William Kao, George Stone, Fred Evans, while a chorus of more than a score of beauties lend color, volume and background to the many new and original musical numbers and ensembles.
